USPG in China

USPG jointly supports Amity Teachers in China with other churches and mission agencies through the Churches Together in Britain and Ireland network.

About this Project...

▶ Target: £2,670 / €3,560 | Project 411

The Amity Foundation is an independent organisation created in 1985 by Chinese Christians to promote education, social services, health, and rural development from China’s coastal provinces in the east to the minority areas of the west.

By being one of the sending agencies of Amity Teachers USPG is able to contribute to China’s social development and openness to the outside world.

This work also enable Christian participation in meeting the needs of society to become more widely known to the Chinese people.

Amity’s education projects focus on changing hearts and minds, emphasising people-to-people contact and the building of personal friendships, which promote mutual respect and broader global perspectives.

USPG-supported Amity teachers Ian Groves, Christine Green and Kath Saltwell are placed in Jiangsu and Gansu. Their help is vital in a country where a student’s progress is dependent upon their grasp of the English language.
